

FUTURE SKILLS LIBRARY

A new type of content library - Future Skills

Learning Pool has created 13 Future Skills topics which are vital in the development of all individuals in every organisation over the coming few years.

We provide up to date content in each of the key skill areas to capture the present trends, as tomorrow's skills become today's.

Organisations today are changing and the need for content is increasing, at a time when 'Fake news' is progressively harder to spot and the time to respond is getting shorter.

Our Future Skills Library is a carefully curated blend of Learning Pool's content and a broad and deep range of modules and subjects from across the web. The research tells us that this library is essential for any organisation; now and in the future, regardless of sector.

Learning Pool's Future Skills library helps modern learners uncover and develop the skills that will make good organisations, great, and keeps their career potential open for future success.

Future skills content is:

- Rapid response - we can respond to every content request, not just those we have on-hand or can build in due course...
- Shaped to fit - we can size the content breadth and depth per customer (i.e. many skills, a few articles, a few skills, many articles)
- Up to date - whatever the pace of change we have it covered and we will keep it up to date for the life of the subscription

Learning Pool believes that every learner is different. Whether that's at a different point of their career, experience or even availability, but the need for continuing development for everyone is now greater than ever.

Every person is capable of incredible things, so specific care should be given to them wherever they are in their time within an organisation.

Organisations have a responsibility to create the best environment and share the resources required to develop the right knowledge, skills, and behaviours with every employee, every step of the way.

CPD Accredited Modules

Future Skills is a blend of CPD accredited modules, learning experiences and hand-curated content to fit every organisation. We know that the way we learn is different that's why our unique blend of content means no matter where you are or how much availability you have we have content that's right for you.
